A Mark of Quality

A Hygrade label on a bottle of Whiskey, Brandy, Gin or Wine is a mark of quality and an assurance of real value.

¶In all cases it represents an equal and usually a better value for the money than you can secure elsewhere.

Present conditions emphasize this fact.

GBecause we made immense purchases of reserve stocks at pre-war prices and maintain our principle of being contented with a small margin of profit on all our products.

HAS SIX BIG LEAKS.

n These War Times This Means Woful Waste of Nation's Provender.

There are six leaks in the Amerisan kitchen, according to the Federal O'Ryan's statement that the town i Food Board, that will have to be under quaranties by camp orders slapped before the American housewife will be on a food saving basis with the women of ather warring na-have done their part intelligently nine. and effectively in conservation," they declare, "but there is still much to England, France and Germany in the fire points of food economy."

The six leaks that the Administraon wants the housewife to deal

1. Buying food that is not raised locally or is not in season. 2. Improper handling in the hame. 3. Poor mest planning in the home.

4. Poor preparation. Waste in cooking.

6. Individual plate waste caused by careless serving.

THOUGHTLESSNESS RESPONSI-BLE FOR MOST OF EVILS.

The Food Administrators go on say: "Of course none of us is guilty of all six of these sins of leakage, and no usekeeper has consciously committed one of them. Most of our ranspressions have been through houghtlessness.

"Take the first item-that of using the local supply instead of the foodstuffs that have to be brought from a distance. Many a housekeeper has allowed this leakage in her household through unnecessarily pampering her family's tastes. It is a peculiar weakness of human nature that most of us crave the "unseasonable" foods and lines grown outside our section of the country.
"Secondly, we waste food by not seing careful of it once it is in the ouse. We leave milk bottles uncovered, a plate of butter to melt near polls unexpectedly and has to be brown away. "Many housewives waste much

"Many housewives wasts much good food by poor meal planning. The meats of one day should doverail those of the next so evenly that the left-overs of the first should "It into the dishes of the second. Of course this takes thought and practice. recipes carefully. Your country cannot afford to have you waste food by careless preparation or by following your own experiments now, unless you are sure of yourself.

"Also, do not waste by careless paring, do not discard good sour hones, save all meat fat and never leave food in cooking utensils through careless heating.

"Do not give your family too much food—or too little. Study food values and see that they get the proper variety and the requisite number of calories in each meal. If you do not know about these things already, send for Farmers' Indictin 808 at the United States Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

"Lastly, in the campaign to stop all the food leaks' in your household, teach the old-fashioned gospel of the clean plate. Let the man-of-thehouse be a little less generous in his helpings. It is easy to ask for more. Make smaller relis, muffins, cookies and cakes. Cut all meat, bread and butter on the table and you will be surprised to see how much waste these hitle things will eliminate.
